

Volcanoes: a field guide

Page one. A volcano is an opening in the crust where molten rock, ash and gas escape.

Page two. Shield volcanoes have gentle slopes, built from runny basalt lava.

Page three. Stratovolcanoes are steep and explosive, built from layers of ash and thick lava.